(5) RUFFU HEARING

An informal hearing was held to hear the case brought by trainer Gail Ruffu against owner Shane Passaretti. After allowing both parties to be heard, an agreement was reached between Mr. Passaretti and Ms. Ruffu. Mr. Passaretti agreed to sign over his one third ownership in a horse named Dutt Bart in exchange for a repayment of a loan made to Ms. Ruffu by Mr. Passaretti. No action by the Board of Stewards was required in resolving this matter.

(6) GATE MALFUNCTION / STEWARDS REVIEW

Just as the field was about to be dispatched from the starting gate for tonight's first race, #6 Sharp Image broke through the front doors. We learned from starter Gary Brinson that the gate actually malfunctioned slightly, but he assured us that the issue was an easy fix. After being examined by the racing vet, Sharp Image was reloaded into the starting gate.

Following the running of the race, the Stewards conducted a review of the start where #6 Sharp Image broke outward quite abruptly. Since the runner that was affected finished in-front of Sharp Image, no action was taken.

(7) TWO LATE SCRATCHES

There were two late scratches from tonight's second race. Prior to the running of the first race we learned that #3 TIGER ON YOUR SIX was injured on the way to the receiving barn, resulting in a late scratch. The second scratch came when #4 UNCHANGED was injured in the starting gate while doing some practice loading with starter Gary Brinson in hopes of preventing him from disrupting the other runners in the race.

Sunday

(1) NO MORNING ACTIVITY

No Stewards' business was conducted this morning.

(2) WARD STILL OUT

The ailing Tom Ward called in sick once again, so Paul Atkinson filled his role in the stand. Steward Kim Sawyer drove down after her day at Santa Anita to fill the role of Safety Steward.

(3) VOIDED CLAIM

After learning that the claimed runner BARGAINING had bled during the running of tonight's fifty race, the Stewards ordered that the claim be voided on the recommendation of the Official Veterinarian.

(4) LIGHTS OUT

Just as the runners for the finale were making their way into the walking ring, all the power went out. Within a few seconds the interior lighting came back on, but the track lighting remained off for around eleven minutes. Once the track lights started to regain strength, the riders mounted and the field of five headed onto the track. The runners had their normal warm-up period and then the outrider escorted them to the starting gate.

To make this race more eventful, during the loading process, two of the runners knocked the front doors open, both exiting the starting gate. Neither runner got loose, so after a thorough check by the racing vet, both runners were reloaded, and the field was finally dispatched at 9:34pm (fourteen minutes past the originally scheduled post time).

After speaking with plant superintendent Frank Sherren, we learned that a car had struck a nearby transformer, causing the outage. Mr. Sherren also explained that within a few seconds the power supply had switched to its alternate source, just as it was designed to do. However, the switch in power supply caused the racetrack lights to shut down, and with this type of lighting system, an approximate ten-minute cooling down period is required before the lights can be restarted.
